

Taking a cappella to the next level is what 'Evolution' is all about. With an incredible sense of 'music', an uncanny vocal ease and an Understanding of performance they certainly deliver!

Formed in 2006, all four vocalists were already established and successful in their own right and together they combine a total of 73 years singing experience within the a cappella world...but when they first sang together, they knew it would be something special...

Since forming, the word has spread quickly about 'Evolution' and within days, even before their first rehearsal, they had been booked for three shows, one of which was in Verona, Italy!

In 2009 in the seaside town of Llandudno, Evolution became the British National Quartet Champions.

From the way they dress and the music they sing, right down to the intricacies and delicacies of their performance, you can tell that this group is unique. They have a clear idea of what they want to achieve and how they want to get there. A key factor in their success is understanding and agreeing what they wanted to be right from the beginning; it has made possible everything they accomplish today.

Evolution are very proud and honoured to be invited to appear on tonight's show.
